

thereby liueth, is to be no counterfeite, but the true and perfect image of life indeed. The better part of valour is Discretion; in the which better part, I haue saued my life. Zounds I am ascard of this gunpowder Percy, though he be dead: how if hee should counterfeite too, and rise? by my faith I am afraid he would proue the better counterfeite? therefore Ile make him sure; yea, and Ile sweare I slew him. Why may not he rise aswell as I? nothing confutes mee but eyes, and no body sees me: therefore sirra, with a new wound in your thigh, come you along with me.

He takes up Hotspur on his backe. Enter Prince and John of Lancaster.

Prin. Come brother John, full brauely hast thou flesht Thy mayden Sword.

John. But soft, who haue we heere?
Did you not tell me this fat man was dead?

Prin. I did, I saw him dead,
Breathlesse, and bleeding on the ground. Art thou aliue?
Or is it fantasie that playes vpon our eye-sight?
I prethee speake, we will not trust our eyes
Without our eares, thou art not what thou seem'st.

Fals. No that's certaine, I am not a double man: but if I bee not Iacke Falstaffe, then am I a Iacke: there is Percy, if your Father will doe mee any honour, so: if not, let him slay the next Percy himselfe: I looke to be either Earle or Duke, I can assure you.

Prin. Why Percy, I slew my selfe, and saw thee dead.

Fals. Didst thou? Lord, Lord, how the world is giuen to lying? I graunt you I was downe, and out of breath, and so was he, but wee rose both at an instant, and fought a long houre by Shrewsbury clocke, if I may be beleued, so: if not, let them that should reward Valour, beare the sinne vpon their owne heads. Ile take it vpon my death, I gaue him this wound in the thigh: if the man were aliue, and would deny it, Zounds I would make him eate a peece of my Sword.

John. This is the strangest tale that euer I heard.

Prin. This is the strangest fellow, brother John,
Come bring your luggage nobly on your backe.

For my part, if a lie will doe thee grace,
Ile giude it with the happiest tearmes I haue.

A retreat is sounded.

Prince. The Trumpets sound retreat, the day is o
Come Brother, lets to the highest of the Field,
To see what friends are liuing, who are dead.

Fals. Ile follow, as they say, for reward; He that r

*The Trumpets sound, enter the King, Prince of Wales,
John of Lancaster, Earle of Westmerland, Wor
Worcester and Vernon prisoners.*

King. Thus euer did Rebellion finde rebuke,
Ill spirited Worcester, did not we send grace,
Pardon and tearmes of Loue to all of you?
And wouldst thou turne our offers contrary,
Misuse the tenor of thy kinsmans trust?
Three Knights vpon our party slaine to day,
A noble Earle, and many a creature else,
Had bene aliue this houre,
If like a Christian thou hadst truly borne
Betwixt our Armies true intelligence.

Wor. What I haue done, my safetrie vrg'd me to,
And I embrace this fortune patiently,
Since not to be auoyded, it falls on mee.

King. Beare Worcester to the death, and Vernon too
Other Offenders we will pause vpon.
How goes the Field?

Prince. The noble Scot Lord Douglas, when he saw
The fortune of the day turn'd quite from him,
The noble Percy slaine, and all his men,
Vpon the foot of feare, fled with the rest:
And falling from a hill, he was so bruizd,
That the pursuers tooke him. At my Tent,
The Douglas is, and I beseech your Grace,
I may dispose of him.
